EVENT OVERVIEW

Friday, December 4

School & Discovery Day

Friday will have a primary focus on schools and students.

The main gym will be transformed into an interactive discovery space, with stations where students can learn about different sports, organizations and opportunities.

Provincial sport organizations and clubs are encouraged to offer a live demonstration, interactive activity or hands-on experience where appropriate.

The goal is to give students an opportunity to see what adaptive sport can look like and discover activities they may want to try.

Saturday, December 5

Family & Athlete Day

Saturday will be more focused on athletes, families and the community.

Participants will be able to:

- Explore adaptive and para sport opportunities
- Meet athletes, coaches and sport organizations
- Visit vendor and information booths
- Try different sports and activities
- Learn about programs available across Saskatchewan
- Connect with organizations and community resources
- Discover ways to get involved in sport

If you rely on electricity for your booth, we recommend bringing a fully charged device or backup battery whenever possible.

MAKE YOUR BOOTH INTERACTIVE!

We encourage organizations to make their booth more than just a table of brochures.

Consider bringing:

- Program brochures and information
- Banners or signage
- Adaptive equipment
- Sport equipment
- Hands-on activities
- Demonstration equipment
- Registration information
- Athlete or coach representatives
- Photos or videos showcasing your organization
- Something visitors can try, touch or experience

For Provincial Sport Organizations & Clubs

We especially encourage you to consider offering a short demonstration or interactive activity.

Friday's school audience will be looking for opportunities to learn by doing, while Saturday's athletes and families will have the opportunity to explore sports in more depth.

MENTAL HEALTH & ATHLETE WELLNESS

The Para-Sport Summit will also feature classroom breakout sessions focused on mental health and athlete wellness.

Provincial sport organizations are encouraged to invite their athletes, coaches and support staff to participate.

Sessions will provide an opportunity to step away from the activity floor and take part in conversations and learning around the mental health and well-being of athletes.

Session topics and times are currently being finalized.

A detailed breakout schedule will be shared with participating organizations once it is confirmed.

Let's bring Saskatchewan's sport community together and show people what's possible.
